WIDOW OF TUNNEL VICTIM
GETS $40,000 VERDICT.Mrs. Hinsdale Gets Judgment Against Central Road for Loss of Husband.

TUNNEL HORROR VERDICTS.
Mrs. Christine H. Hinsdale, $40,000.
Mrs. L. G. Dimeson, $10,000.
Peter Murphy (compromise) $18,500.
Cost to date.....$118,500.

Mrs. Christine H. Hinsdale obtained a verdict in the Supreme Court to-day after a long trial before Justice Giegerich and a jury for $40,000 against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company and the New York Central Railroad for the death of her husband, Edward C. Hinsdale, who was in charge of the foreign department of the Morton Trust Company. Mrs. Hinsdale sued for $100,000.

Mr. Hinsdale was killed in the tunnel accident on Jan. 8 last. It was shown at the trial that his income was $5,750 a year, and that he had, besides a considerable amount of personal property. Besides a widow, Mr. Hinsdale left a daughter three years old.

When the verdict was announced August G. Fox, counsel for the railroad company, moved to have it set aside on the ground that it was excessive. The motion was denied.

Mr. Fox then said he had told the jury that as the railroad company had no defense, if the amount of the ver-

KILLED HERSELF WHILE
HUSBAND WAS AT FUNERAL.Mystery in the Suicide of Mrs. Anna Knops,
Who Took Acid, Then Blew Out Her Brains.

ELIZABETH N. J., May 23.—There is considerable mystery in the suicide of Mrs. Anna Knops, who shot and killed herself after swallowing acetic acid at her home, No. 635 Fulton street, this city.

William Knops, the woman's husband, reported the case to the police to-day. He said that he had attended the funeral yesterday of Frederick Linder, of Bayonne, who was shot and killed last Monday night by William Kessler, who also wounded Thomas Kaigler at the same time. When he returned from the cemetery he found his wife dead in bed. She had first taken the acid and then blown out her brains.

A letter that she had written lay on her dressing-table and Knops said that in it she declared she was tired of life. The husband, however, refused to divulge the full contents of the missive.

The Knopses lived comfortably and appeared to be happy, so that the motive for the suicide by such extraordinary means puzzles the police.

The coroner has taken up the case and will try to get at the full facts. The shooting of Linder and Kaigler is still a matter of police inquiry, as it has not yet been satisfactorily explained.

During a quarrel Kessler, who was an evangelist and something of a hypnotist, pulled a revolver and shot the two men. Linder was killed instantly and Kaigler seriously wounded, so badly, in

VACCINE ON HER NOSE.

Newark Woman Taken to Hospital
After Remarkable Experience.

(Special to The Evening World.)
NEWARK, N. J., May 23.—Mrs. Margaret Braney, twenty-eight years old, of No. 120 Park avenue, was to-day removed to the isolation hospital.

It seems that four days ago a woman suffering from small-pox was removed from the tenement-house in which Mrs. Braney lived and was immediately vaccinated.

She purchased a pint of carbolic acid to disinfect her apartments. In handling the acid she burned her nose. She had just previously rubbed the knife she used to cut the acid with her hand and was immediately vaccinated.

EXPOSITION PARK, PITTSBURG.
Pa., May 23.—The Giants were indeed a sad looking lot as they ambled on the diamond this afternoon to once more engage the Pirates in a game of base ball as per schedule. With Van out of the game an inmate of a hospital it did not seem like the old team. It has come to such a pass that a New York team without a Van Haltren is like a whiskey cocktail without the whiskey.

The unfortunate accident of yesterday which deprived the Giants of their best player necessitated Manager Fogel making another change in his batting list. The way he did it is best shown in the above order.

Roy Clark, the young ex-collegian, owing to his being a left-handed batter, is placed first. The boy always tries hard enough, but his effort to fill the position left vacant by old Van is sure to make him appear worse in playing than he really is.

Van Out for Two Months.

As to Van, he is resting very quietly in the hospital, and may be able to play in his old position in about two months. His mates are doing all they can to comfort him. Not a minute of the day, except during the game, is he left alone. President Freedman telegraphed Manager Fogel to spare no expense in giving the old fellow comfort.

As to the game to-day, the chances of the Giants seemed gloomy as they appeared as if they were to be beaten. The field was quite soggy, owing to the rain of last night, and that was another handicap. Doyle and his men had to accept. But hope does not die in these boys from New York. They are quiet in no sense of the word. They went into the game to win, and not to lose, and were prepared to put forth their best efforts.

100 to 20 Against the Giants.
The speculative crowd in the stands figured them as having little or no chance. So it was that odds of 100 to 20 were freely offered, and few were the takers of the short end. Finding betting on the result rather slow, the Pittsburgh Club's adherents made wagers on fouls, strikes, balls and that the man at the bat would or would not get to first base. That's how bad the betting fever is here.

As far as the pitching department of the Giants was concerned there was no need of worry on that score. In the box was Frank Sparks. He is in good shape just now and felt that if his mates would work well behind him and if they would do a little batting he would carry off the honors of the day. His practice was of the superior order. But, as has often been related, one can never tell what a fellow will do in a game by watching him warm up.

Eddie Doheny, once a Giant, but now one of the stars of the champions' pitching staff, struck Manager Fred Clarke as being about in the right shape to fool his old mates with his southern delivery. Still until the gong sounded for the beginning of the game, Clark had not settled just who would pitch. As well as Doheny, he had Leever, Chesno and Poole warm up, and when they had finished he was still guessing. All looked good to him. That is one of the good fortunes of the Pittsburgh Club to have such a fine collection of twirlers that to pick out the best is next to an impossibility.

First Inning.
Clark's third strike got away from Smith and Van's substitute got to first. Lauder did a fan-out act, and on the third strike started for second, but was caught. Doheny surely made a record in this inning, for he made Jones face the breeze, too, making three strikeouts for the round. No runs.

Doheny kept shooting his curves over and over. Another victim in the strike, Bowerman rolled the ball to Burke and died at first. Doheny was good to Smith, letting him go to first on four wide pitches. Jackson, too, got free base. He was a knock to Burke was Jackson's undoing at second. No runs.

One of Sparks's inshoots caught Wagner on the arm and he walked. Brane-hoff's boost was high as he walked. Burke's runner, Lauder forced Wagner at second. A fine throw by Burke caught Burke trying to steal second. No runs.

Third Inning.
Sparks sent up a fly that tumbled to Smith. Burke couldn't handle Clark's hot smash and Roy got to first. Lauder

BOER WAR ENDED;
PEACE IS CERTAIN.Terms Have Been Agreed on and Ratified by British Cabinet—Formal Announcement Withheld Until Leaders in the Field Are Informed.

LONDON, May 23.—While no official announcement has been made, it is now practically certain that the war in South Africa is ended.

Terms of peace have been agreed on, and what remains for the complete restoration of peace is only matter of detail.

The Cabinet met this afternoon, the members having been specially summoned for the purpose of concluding consideration of the final arrangements between the Boers and the British.

The greatest public interest was manifested in the meeting. The ministers reached Downing street, where the Foreign Office, Colonial office and other Government offices are situated, from all parts of the country, and were greeted by hundreds of people anxious for some sign of the propable trend of affairs.

REGARDS WAR AS ENDED.

The Cabinet meeting adjourned at 5.10 P. M. The Associated Press has ascertained that the Government regards the war as practically ended.

Advices received by the War Office indicate that whatever decision the Vereeniging conference may arrive at, most, if not all of the Boer leaders who went to Pretoria WILL NOT CONTINUE THE FIGHT.

The present negotiations were merely for the purpose of enabling the Boer leaders to "save their faces." After they learn the results of this afternoon's meeting of the Cabinet the Boer leaders are expected to announce their reluctant acquiescence with the British terms.

FEAR PREMATURE ELATION IN LONDON.

The War Office does not expect any serious defections of the rank and file from the line taken up by Gen. Botha and De Wet. Every precaution is being taken at Downing Street to prevent premature public elation, in view of the possibility that a portion of the Vereeniging delegates might bolt and continue the struggle without their leaders.

Privately, however, confidence is expressed in official circles that everything is over but the shouting.

BURGLAR KILLED
FIGHTING POLICE.Desperate Street Battle
Waged with Revolvers Before Daylight in Harlem.

Two score of policemen and several hundred residents of Harlem engaged in a burglar chase in the vicinity of Lexington and Park avenues and One Hundred and Thirtieth street at 3 o'clock this morning. When the chase was over one burglar was dead and two were in the custody of the police.

More than fifty shots were fired during the chase, and everybody living within a radius of several blocks was awakened.

Cornelius Gallagher, a private watchman, who patrols the blocks bounded by Lexington and Third avenues and One Hundred and Sixteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets, saw three men leave Henry Driscoll's optical goods store at No. 2068 Third avenue about 2.30 o'clock this morning.

Summons Reinforcements.

Gallagher did not interrupt them, but went to Lexington avenue and One Hundred Twelfth street, where he found Policemen Beck, Praetorius and Kennedy, all of the East One Hundred and Fourth street station.

The policemen gave chase, and the burglars took to their heels. Back was in the lead and as he came close to the fleeing men at Park avenue he yelled for them to halt. The men turned and opened fire on the policemen, who answered with a fusillade of bullets.

Between One Hundred and Twelfth and One Hundred and Thirtieth streets the burglars, finding that the policemen were gaining on them, stopped again and a duel to the death began. A bullet struck one of the burglars and he fell to the pavement with a groan. His companions turned and fled, pursued by Beck and Praetorius, while Kennedy remained with the wounded man.

Guido W. Beck, the policeman who killed White, has been attached to the One Hundred and Fourth street station since a few weeks, having been transferred to that precinct from the Fifth street station, where he had served as Acting Captain Churchill's warder.

The dead man was recognized from a picture in the "Herald" gallery as Walter Hoyt, who in 1901, under the name of Charles M. Hoyt, had been transferred to that precinct from the Fifth street station, where he had served as Acting Captain Churchill's warder.

Quite like summer to-day and a few straw hats appeared in public.

The day started warm after a night that was not cool and soon after the sun rose the temperature began rising. It went up steadily and at 11 o'clock was 78, according to the official measurement of the Weather Bureau. It was two degrees hotter at noon. At 1 o'clock the temperature was 84 and the humidity 70, while down on the street thermometers indicated a still higher temperature.

The highest temperature reached was at 3.15 o'clock, when the thermometer registered 88. After that the temperature began slowly to fall.

A year ago to-day the average temperature was 70, and the normal average for May 23 is 64. This places to-day close to the record for a hot May day.

All over the country there is high temperature, except in the lower Mississippi River valley; here a rain storm has made the weather cooler, and away out in Wyoming, where the thunder storms are as low as 38 and muffers are comfortable.

In this region it is such weather as this that breeds thunder storms, and the Weather Bureau man says that such storms are likely to occur to-day and to-morrow. Should the thunder storms fall to come showers are to be expected.

Mrs. Ida Jacobs, who is thirty-two years old, and lives at No. 621 East One Hundred and Forty-first street, and who has appeared in the Morrisania Court several times during the last six weeks to make her husband pay her more alimony, was there again to-day. Her action led Magistrate Mott to make her a prisoner and then to send her to Bellevue Hospital to be examined as to her sanity.

Mrs. Jacobs has separated from her husband, Joseph, who is a peddler, of No. 27 East Fifty-seventh street. He agreed to take care of one of their two children and also to pay his wife $2.50 a week.

The husband was in court to-day. He said that his wife had a violent temper; that he was a poor man and could not possibly pay more than $2.50 per week. Magistrate Mott decided not to increase the amount.

Mrs. Jacobs then became furious. "One can get no justice here," she Murphy was stationed at the West street entrance to Headquarters. He went to his home at No. 104 Madison street to-day at 11 o'clock on foot, returning an hour later. Within a few minutes he became dizzy and fell, striking his head on the stone steps and cutting a deep gash in his forehead.

This policeman is one of the champions of the force. He has worn uniform for over twenty-five years. For nearly twenty years of that time he was stationed at the Staten Island ferry house at the foot of Whitehall street. It was his boat that he made fast one arrest in all that time, and that he was on the ferry house post no longer than the heads of the Department. He did not know he was on the force. He knew every Staten Island community.

Murphy is between sixty-five and seventy years of age and weighs two hundred and twenty-five pounds. An ambulance surgeon from St. Vincent's Hospital, who attended him, said that the heat prostration combined with the fall rendered his chances of recovery extremely slim.

Samuel Martin, thirty-six years old, of No. 308 East Fifty-fifth street, was overcome in Central Park under the Scope arch and removed to the Presbyterian Hospital.
